A Brief History of the QCMH

Before the QCMH was here, 12-step meetings rented space at various facilities around the area. Meetings were regularly subject to cost increases, often double or triple the current rent.

Several individuals decided to purchase this property in February 2012. Their goal was to create a place where 12-step meetings could rent affordable space.

By May 2014, the Queen Creek Meeting House (QCMH) proved that it could be self-supporting and became a non-profit corporation. The QCMH Corporation bought the property from those individuals for the remaining balance of their loan.

The QCMH is managed and operated by a Board of Trustees and its membership. We are guided by the spiritual principles contained in our respective 12-step programs and are supported by rental contributions, members, non-members, volunteers, and events.

Today, the QCMH is home to five different fellowships, 38 meetings a week, and two languages.

Thank you for your support!
